that season of the year. I was never able to ascertain any reason for the adjournment unless t was because the statute of limitation would operate in favor of a number of the cases. Corkhill did not consult with me, and so far as I know he did not consult with anybody concerning the discharge of the jury. He claims to have spoken with Attorney General MacVeagh, but there seems to be a difference of opinion on that subject. Corkhill said to me on one occasion that he had nothing special to lay before the grand jury, and did not know that I would have."

Q. "To whom would you attach the blame in this matter?"

I would have."

Q. "To whom would you attach the blame in this matter."

"The blume would attach to the district attorney. I can not tell his purpose. The impression was on my mind that the adjournment was made so as to provent an indictment being found in the star route cases. That may have been an unkind inference."

Mr. (sook said that Mr. Bliss assumed the leadership very soon after coming into the case. Witness had procured indictments against Lilly and Brott, but they had never been touched. Mr. Woodward antagonized the indictments. Witness was never allowed to go before the grand jury. Biss doubted whether witness could go, but Bliss and Kerboth went. Witness thought he could have secured a conviction, as the juries were composed of honest men.

Being asked to name the honorable men, he mentioned Mr. William Dickson, foreman of the first jury, and Mr. Crane, foreman of Witness said that the failure to convict rewitness main that the isniure to convict re-sulted partly from the selection of toe com-plicated a case, which the jury could not un-derstand, and partly from the weakness of the method of trial.

"Why was that case taken instead of a strong one?"

"Why was that case taken instead of a strong one?"
"In my office one day, in speaking of that case, when I endeavored to call Blise's attentention to it, he said he intended to try Dorsey. Dorsey and Boons he called the head devils, and he stated that he intended to pursue them first. Unquestionably there was a personal feeling on the part of illiss toward Dorsey and Boone."
If he had been the jury, Mr. Cook said, he should have returned a verdict that the defendants were not proven guilty. He had made no recommendations to Mr. Browsier because he thought it would be useless. He had Mr. Brewster's confidence and culcyty, but Mr. Brewster was largely indebted to Mr. Bliss, the intimate friend of the President, for his position, and said he must allow him to conduct the case. Bliss was consulted, for his position, and said he must allow him to conduct the case. Bliss was consulted, witness was not. President Arthur said in a message that he had directed the distinguished counsel to press the star route cases. Witness thought, as the President had said nothing to him about it, that he was not considered one of the distinguished attorneys. President Garfield had given special instructions to witness and evinced an earnest tions to witness and evinced an earnest desire to prosecute any one involved, irre-spective of persons.

Mr. Cook read his letter of recognition.

Mr. Brewster said it surprised him but he must accept it. He said the cases had been committed to Mr. Bliss by the postoffice department.

The witness then asserted that Bliss had The witness then asserted that Bliss had made certain without letting him know of the evidence. "Bliss wrote me a letter," Mr. Cook continued, "in which he said he had issued warrants for the arrest of Boone and others. He said to me, 'Do as you please; say you know all about it or nothing about it.' That was a commission from Bliss for me to lie, I asked the attorney general if he had given Bliss authority to act without consulting me. He again repeated that he owed his appointment to Bliss, and said to me, 'Old fellow, don't get to Bliss, and said to me, 'Old fellow, don't get in a bad humor.' Then he related a Greenan fable." 'We are not going into Greece," suggested

"We are not going into Greece," suggested Mr. Milliken.
"The attorney general said I must do things that I would not otherwise do, because of my indebtedness to Mr. Bliss. I said I could not accept the commission to lie and left."
Mr. Cook was questioned at length concerning papers which had been in his possession, the members of the committee desiring to know whether they could have been removed without the knowledge of the witness. The examination of Mr. Cook will be continued to-day.

The Mexican Treaty.

After four hours consideration in secret session yesterday the senate ratified the Mexican treaty by a vote of 41 to 20. The division is believed to have been as follows:

YEAS.—Messis, Allison, Bayard, Beck, Ellair, Bowen, Camden, Cameron of Wisconsin, Cockrell, Coke, Cullom, Dawes, Bolph, Edmonde, Vasc, Farley, Frye, George, Groome, Harris, Harrison, Hill, Honr, Ingalls, Jackson, Lamar, Losan, McMillan, McPherson, Manderson, Maxey, Miller of California, Miller of New York, Morgan, Pike, Pugh, Sabin, Sauisbury, Sawyer, Slater, Vest, and Wilson—total, 41.

Wilson—total, 41.

Nays.—Messrs. Aldrich, Brown, Call, Conger, Glason, Gorman, Hampton, Hawley Jones, Jones of Florida, Kenna, Malione, Michell, Morrill, Palmer, Platt, Sewell, Sherman, Vance, and Willjams—total, 30.

The debate which preceded the vote is described as devoid of incident and unproductive of results, senators having long since formed their opinions in favor of or against the treaty. Senator Gibson, of Louisiana, made the first and longest speech, and was of course against the treaty on the ground that it admits free sugar in competition with the chief staple of his state. Senators Jonus, Edmunds, and others spoke against the treaty, and Senators Coke, Miller (of California), and one or two more senators made short speeches in support of it.

Pavoring an Increase of Pensions. George S. Merrill, Paul Van Dervoort, and Louis Wagner, representing the Grand Army of the Republic, appeared before the committee on invalid pensions yesterday in behalf of pensioners. They opposed those bills which propose to grant pensions at the present time to all survivors of the war regardless of whether they were wounded, or have become disabled from service, or are needy. They favored the extension of the arrears limit to Jan. 1, 1885, and the pensionarrears limit to Jan. 1, 1855, and the pension-ing of all honorably discharged soldiers and sailors who are now disabled and are de-pendent upon their own labor for support, or who are 65 years of age, without connell-ing them to prove at this date that such disa-bility actually arose from the service. They also favored a bill equalizing the bounty of soldiers, a bill pensioning widows, and a bill soldiers, a bill pensioning widows, and a bill granting pensions to survivors of rebei prisons who are suffering from disability, without compelling them to prove that such disability arose from the imprisonment. They recom-mended, also, a somewhat higher rate of pension to crippled soldiers and soldiers' children.

The Changes in Washington City Not So Radical as Expected.

Yesterday's session of the Baltimore conference was opened by prayer by Rev. J. R. Wheeler.

The report of the committee on church extension and freedman's aid was adopted, as also the report of the committee on temperance with alight modifications.

A letter from Rev. J. W. Chickering was read expressing full confidence in the cooperation of the conference in the temperance work, and that documents had been sent for work, and that documents had been sent for distribution among the members.

Reports of committees on seminaries, Dickinson college, the fort relief fund, state of the church, and missionary society were then read and adopted. The report on the American Bible society, which was adopted, showed the receipts and expenditures to be $819.77. A paper commending the worth of S. H. Cummings in his work of teaching and improving the masses was adopted.

Rev. R. Bishop recommended the readmission of Rev. J. W. Kelly into the conference, He stated that this gentleman had been cut off from the communion of the church through the exigencies of the war, and for the past sixtesn years had been working for the church and now resolved to end his days in the min-and now resolved to end his days in the min-istry. He had made efforts to seek admission, but had been advised to dolay. A fitting tribute was paid him for character, zeal, and fidelity to the church through its trying times. Speechea were made by many of the members favoring his readmission, and a resolution was passed placing his name on the superannuated roll.

The treasurer's report on the Draw semi-inary fund was approved. Independent Meth-edists, seventy. Mr. Charles O. Isaacs, of St. Mary's circuit, was admitted after much dis-cussion on the on the conference, he having given satisfactory evidence as to the require-ments of the discipline in the matter. Rev. Dr. Deale presented the application for admission of Rev. Charles M. Haddiway, lately of the Reformed Episcopal church. A letter of dismissal from Bishop Latane was read granting his dismissal and commending him.

Rev. C. O. Eldridge raised the question as to Mr. Haddiway's having been formerly a preacher in the Methodist Episco al church south. He could not understand why he should go from one church to another. After should go from one church to another. After a protracted debate Mr. Haddiway was placed on trial. Mr. Barnes, of the Cumberland district, who received 60, was also admitted on trial.

A collection for the janitor of the church was ordered to be taken up. Rev. Mr. Cook, of France, was permitted to make a statement, and thanked the conference for the $100 collected for his branch of the church.

The report on the Winchester church collec-The report on the Winchester church collection was approved, and Hishop Andrews then anneauced the committeejon the proposed conference female seminary. He stated that the indies have proposed to raise one half of the $175,000. It was proposed to secure lady secretaries in the various districts, whose duties would be in circulating information about the institution and an aid to the officers of the enterprise. It was suggested to permit all so desiring to subscribe $30, to be paid in annual installments of $10. He proposed to take up a subscription among the conference. A resolution to do so was then passed. The sum of $10.800 was collected in sums varying from $2,500 to $125.

The evening session of the Baltimore conference was held at McKendres church. By 7 o'clock the church was filled to the doors and a crowd extended from the front of the building far into the street. Bishop Andrews, together with many of the members, were unable to enter until the aisles were cleared, which was done with a very deal of labor. which was done with a great deal of labor and loss of time. Hundreds were turned away and many lingured on the stairs and about the doors, buping to find a chance to enter. After the devotional exercises were performed the minutes of the conference were read and a summary of the whole precentings, giving account of reports submitted by various committee all tending to show the various so mmittees, all tending to show the groat progress and excellent condition of the Mathodist church. The names of members of committees were gread, all of which has been validable.

The Feast of Parim. The Hebrew residents in this city yesterday celebrated the feast of Purim in commemoration of the deliverance from death of he Jews, under Abasuerus, king of Shushan, by Queen Esther. The celebration of this event is an interesting one, and the drama matched at the Adas Israel synagogue on Monday night portrayed the deliverance from the machinations of Haman in a real-site manner. The prominent residents celebrated the occasion by giving feasts at their brated the occasion by giving feasts at their residences and attending the services at the synagomes in the evening.
